<対話文 1>

M: Kana, I heard you love music.
F: Yes. I especially like jazz music. How about you, Tom?
M: I'm interested in classical music. It always makes me feel relaxed.
F: Who is your favorite composer? Mozart, Tchaikovsky, Beethoven ...
M: I like Beethoven the best. You know, he wrote nine symphonies. The last one is the most famous. It was composed in 1824.
F: Really? I want to listen to it.
M: Let's ask our music teacher to lend us the CD of that symphony.

Question : How many symphonies did Beethoven compose?

<対話文 2>

F: Hey, Bob. My friend, Wendy, will come to our house in the afternoon. How about making chirashizushi for her?
M: That's a good idea, Hana. Let's start preparing it.
F: Okay. Let me see ... We already have vinegar and rice. What else should we buy?
M: I think we have some eggs, cucumbers, and avocados in the fridge. Do we have any soy sauce and wasabi?
F: Yes, we do. Oh, she likes salmon, right? Do we have any?
M: No, I don't think so. Let's get some at the supermarket.
F: OK. Do you think she can use chopsticks?
M: I'm not sure, but we could use forks instead.

Question : What are Hana and Bob going to buy at the supermarket?

<対話文 3>

M: Hi, Mary. Are you free tomorrow?
F: Yes, John. What's up?
M: I'm going to visit an old people's home tomorrow. I sometimes work there as a volunteer. Can you come with me?
F: Well, what time does the work start? I'm busy in the morning.
M: It starts at two o'clock. We usually work there for about three hours.
F: That's perfect. I can go with you.
M: Thanks a lot! Can I meet you at Fuji Station at 1:30?
F: Sure.

Question : What time will John and Mary start work at the old people's home?

〔問題 B〕

Hello, everyone. Welcome to STAR library. Thank you very much for coming today. First of all, we'd like to tell you about our library. We are open from Monday to Friday, from 9 o'clock to 5 o'clock. We have more than 30,000 books on the first floor and about 40,000 books on the second floor. You need to be quiet in this library, but if you want to take a break, we have fresh coffee in the cafe. It's on the third floor. Well, please look around and try to find your favorite books. You can borrow three books from the counter on the first floor. But don't forget to return the books within one week. We hope you will enjoy using our library.

Question 1 : If you need to take a break, what can you do?

Question 2 : How many books can you borrow from the library in a week?
